MIDWEST DAHLIA FARM

FINEST VARIETIES-ORIGINAL STOCK

EARLE W. HOUGHTON

GALVA, HENRY COUNTY, ILLINOIS

SPRING 1928

THIS YEAR—we have for you an even better selection of Dahlias than our 1927 list. It is true that many of last year's listings we have kept—for the simple reason that we have been unable to find superior varieties to displace them,—but we have found it advisable to make a few changes, and we have also added several new and different sorts, which we are sure you will like—very, very much.

In our descriptions we are giving you briefly, the more important details concerning each of the different kinds. They are all good—extra good—and because we have not taken the space to say much about fine stems, excellent habits of growth, etc., you must not imagine for a moment that they are deficient in these respects. Any Dahlia must have the necessary qualifications before we shall recommend it to our customers. We have indicated ratings, type, color, size range, and certain awards of merit, all of which points should help you in making a choice. The real pictures of these flowers, however, must be left very largely to your own imagination, and because, as we have mentioned, they are all splendid varieties, we feel sure that you will be in no way disappointed with any selection you may make, which your particular fancy, in the matter of color and type shall dictate.

Our Price List is not an elaborate one. We realize the tendency on the part of purchasers to judge goods to a certain extent by the way in which they are presented, and there is no question but what an attractive and costly catalogue makes a better first impression than a less pretentious one. There is nevertheless the matter of expense to be considered. If we are to put a lot of money into our catalogue—and other advertising—we must, in turn, get more for our product; whereas, by keeping these expenditures at a minimum, we are able to give you better prices. We have decided, for the time being at least, to run the advertising department of our business at the lowest possible cost, and to set our prices accordingly. Now if these prices suit you, and our selection of varieties is sufficiently comprehensive to meet your demands, there remains but one important item for you to consider—namely, the quality of our stock. All we can say in this connection is that all stock which goes out from this place, is very carefully selected with a view to giving our customers the greatest possible satisfaction, for it is upon this satisfaction that the growth and success of our business depend.

If you have never had dealings with us we shall be pleased to have you give us a trial order—this Spring.

Our regular customers know the kind of goods we deliver, and in closing we want to express our appreciation of their business, and to assure them that we shall endeavor, as heretofore, to merit a continuance of this patronage.

Yours very truly,

Earle W. Houghton

OUR 1928 LIST

We have used abbreviations as follows:

For Type or Formation: H—Hybrid; D—Decorative; C—Cactus; P—Peony; A—American; E—English; S—Show.

Ratings (Approved): Indicated by figures, immediately preceding the name of the variety. A rating of 85 or over is considered very high.

Length of time on market: n—new; r—recent; and s—standard.

Diameter of Blooms—in inches, shown by figures following color description.

Height of Plant—in feet—Ht.

Certificates of Merit—C. of M.—Highest award of the Official Trial Grounds, located in various sections of the country, for a score of 85 or better.

Roll of Honor—H. R.—List of selections published annually by Derrill W. Hart, one of the best posted and best known Dahlia authorities in the world.

Gold Medal and Sweepstakes are the highest Show Awards.

Other Prizes and Awards, when mentioned include only the highest awards at the larger shows, where the competition is very strong, and where an award of any kind carries considerable significance.

Prices: The prices shown are for single, field-grown root divisions—not pot-plants, nor pot roots. These prices cancel all previous quotations, and are made subject to the available supply. (Some of our stock is limited.)

List Arrangement: Color is usually the first consideration in making flower selections, and we have arranged our list accordingly.

NOTE: We can supply post-card size, actual photographs of our own flowers, of any of the varieties marked (P). Our charge for these is 10c each, to cover the cost of printing and mailing.
